HOW HIGH SCHOOL ATHLETICS HAS IMPACTED MY LIFE

Participating in high school sports has developed my character in several ways. Being a high school athlete taught me how to balance my life to fit in a rigorous academic course load, sports, and a part time job. Additionally, athletics allowed me to experience a leadership role in sports as a team captain. My interpersonal and communication skills also were shaped by participation in sports.

I have participated in at least one sport every season for the duration of my high school career. To make this possible, in addition to taking honors and advanced placement classes, I had to be organized and regimented. During my sophomore year of high school, I participated in two sports simultaneously during the spring season as a member of the softball team and outdoor track & field team. I attended three-hour softball practices and then

I ran several miles on my own afterwards so I could continue to compete in track meets. I also took on a part time job starting the summer before my junior year. Balancing all these activities taught me self-discipline as well as effective time management skills. I believe these lessons will serve me well as I continue my college academic and career path.

As a team captain for the cross-country team my senior year, I was able to experience a leadership role in athletics. I was delighted to share my love for the sport with the underclassmen and other members of the team. We grew together as a team and shared many team night events that I coordinated along with my co-captains. I was happy to learn at the end of the season that everyone had a very positive experience and really felt connected to the team, with one athlete in particular feeling as though she was genuinely part of a team for the first time.

Additionally, participation in high school sports has strengthened my interpersonal and communication skills by allowing me to interact with a wide variety of individuals from coaches to teammates. These valuable communication skills carried over to the classroom as well. Often, as my courses became more difficult, I had to put in extra effort and be willing to approach my teachers to ask for extra help before and after school while coordinating around team practices. I also had to communicate with underclassmen and my co-captains to coordinate events and extra training opportunities during the off season. At the end of the season cross country banquet, I delivered a speech to the team, coaches, and families in attendance.

My goal is to pursue a career in the medical field or perhaps in education. In both fields, it is essential to have strong time management skills, leadership skills and interpersonal skills. I am thankful that I was given the opportunity to develop these skills through my participation in high school sports. I am certain that the skills I have acquired will serve me well both on and off the field as I continue my journey.

HOW HIGH SCHOOL ATHLETICS HAS IMPACTED MY LIFE

As I have grown up, a pivotal aspect of my life has been participation in athletics. Before High School, I played baseball, basketball, and golf. These sports impacted my character but are incomparable to what would come next. When I started High School, I joined the football team. As a kid who loves taking on difficult tasks, I joined the football team because I knew it would be difficult. Also, because I aspired to be like my hero, Tom Brady. As my first season began, I started to see just how difficult a sport like this was. I was completely up for the challenge. Quickly, I became committed to the art that Football is, and committed myself to playing Quarterback on a struggling football team. I was short, thin, and inexperienced. I had all the cards stacked against me, but my persistence set me apart from the rest. I worked hard, and developed one of my most admirable characteristics, leadership. To me, there is not a more valuable trait that a person can have than leadership. Leadership provides teammates, peers, family, and friends with a bright light to look to in times of trouble and a source of motivation in times of struggle. The next characteristic of mine that football taught me, was toughness. Although my physical toughness was put on display each week of the season, I was more interested in what I believe is what defines who I am today, and that is mental toughness. Throughout my football career, I had some unbelievable coaches, who are like family to me today. These coaches truly shaped my character into its current form. The head coach of my football team, Coach Tuorto, instilled in me this mental toughness, and the strength to never back down, no matter what! These are lessons that I will carry throughout the rest of my life.

In conclusion, the leadership, mental toughness, and work ethic that I learned from my 4 years as a football player are what have most dominantly impacted my life. The coaches, and teammates that I had during this time are the people that allowed these traits of mine to shine through. These people, and this sport have taught me lessons that I will carry with me for the rest of my life. This impact transformed a struggling North Providence High School Football program in 2020, into a Division IV State Champion in 2023. I am incredibly thankful for the sport of football, and all that it has given me. The pride, confidence, composure, and burning passion that I learned from football are things that truly make me the man that I am today.

NIAAA STATE AWARD OF MERIT JAMES VETELINO, WESTERLY HS

James J Vetelino graduated from Westerly High School, Class of 1994, and Brown University, '98.

A proud 1994 Bulldog graduate, He used lessons learned from his amazing parents, Larry, and Janet, to find success in both the athletic arena and in the classroom. A long-time swimmer and basketball player, he found immediate success when competing in track and field for the first time as a freshman. By the time his senior season rolled around he had given up on the hoop dreams and swimming and ran all three seasons, winning Individual State Championships in Cross Country, Indoor 1500m and 1000m events and the outdoor 1500m event.

James continued his success at Brown University, running for the legendary coach and even better man, Bob Rothenberg. While there he earned multiple All Ivy Cross Country and Track and Field honors, an All-American award and was captain of all three teams.

In two seasons coaching Rhode Island College cross country and track and field, the student athletes he directed re-wrote the record book. Records were broken in every event ranging from 400m through 10000m.

James took the helm at his alma mater in August of 2004. He is most proud of the addition of sport offerings since his beginning: Boys and Girls Swim Teams; Boys and Girls Lacrosse; Sailing; Unified Sports at both the High School and Middle School; Gymnastics; and Coop in Hockey

Elaine Botelho, the RIIAAA Executive Director at the time, talked to him early on about joining the RIIAAA Executive Board and then encouraged him into joining a sport's committee. James was initially named to the RIIL Outdoor Track & Field Committee, and currently serves as the Committee Director. As part of a state initiative, Jamey worked with the coaches' associations to create a Cross Country, Indoor Track & Field and Outdoor Track & Field combined committee in which he remains as co-director along with a president. James also continues to be a member of the swim committee.

James has been a member of the RIIAAA executive committee since 2008. He proudly served as the RIIAAA president from 2015-2017. He has spent 13 years attending the MIAAA conference and has gone to 10 of the last 11 National Conferences. While attending, he has completed 24 National Leadership courses as well as seven years as a RIIAAA delegate to the NIAAA. He proudly serves on the realignment committee and most recently the transfer rule subcommittee. James was names the 2023 RIIAAA Athletic Director of the Year.

All this pales in comparison to the most important accomplishment. He has been able to remain married to my lovely wife, Amanda and help raise our three amazing children, Lillian, James, and Emila while serving the community he loves.

SISTER CHARLENE TEDESCHI – DISTINGUISHED SERVICE AWARD

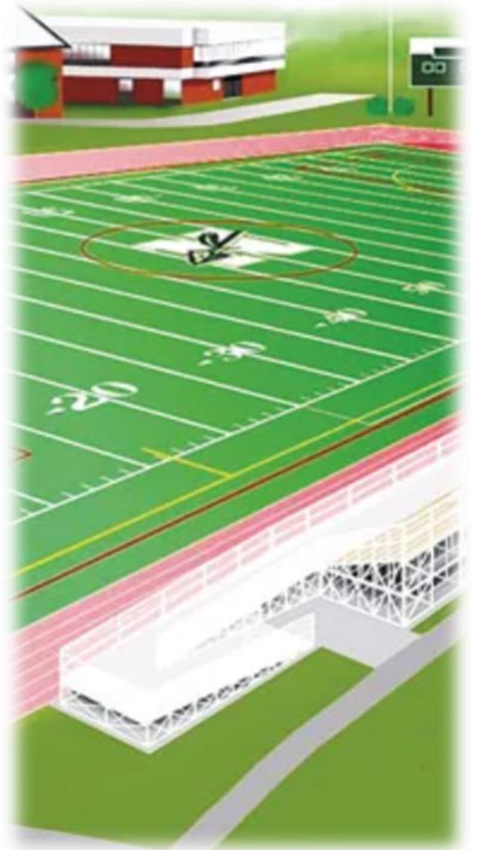

The Cranston High School West Alumni Association works tirelessly to make improvements to the school's facilities. The Alumni Board consists of six officers and numerous other Cranston West Alumni. Over time they have raised $3 million to accomplish these goals. The group's first project was the auditorium remodeling, for which there was full school support. With a completed renovation, September 28, 2017, a new auditorium was revealed.

Any funding left over from the auditorium project was carried over to the new field press box at West, which led to great partnerships with many organizations.

The group's latest completed project is the building of the new quad for studying with ramps, as well as walking paths. The Cranston West Quad revival includes three outdoor classrooms and additional enclosed seating accessible to the student for both lunch and learning. It can be used more frequently as a secure space for events like school dances and special events.

Future projects in the works includes the gymnasium rehab and a video marquee.

Cranston High School West Alumni Association is a great way to give back to the school that gave them so much. Some of the teachers and educators are now mentors and friends.

FEMALE COACH OF THE YEAR LYNDSEY LARSON – LINCOLN HS

Since stepping onto a volleyball court her freshman year of high school, the sport of volleyball has played a major role in Lyndsey Larson's life. Since 2009 there has not been a year where Lyndsey has not been involved in the sport she loves in some shape or form.

While a student at Coventry High School, Lyndsey joined the girls' volleyball team in 2009 as a freshman. She was a member of the school's varsity team for three years and led the team to a Division One State Championship in her senior year as the team's starting libero. That same year Lyndsey was named second team All Division and received the Coventry High School Sportsmanship award.

After her successful high school career, Lyndsey took her talents and hard work to Nashua, New Hampshire to attend Rivier University. She was a four-year starter on the women's volleyball team at Rivier and helped lead the Raiders to two GNAC championships and two NCAA tournament appearances. On top of her team accomplishments, she was also personally awarded the Distinguished Service Award and Senior Athletic Award by the University. Along with an esteemed college athletic career, Lyndsey also graduated college with a secondary math education degree.

She took her skills on the court and in the classroom to Blackstone Valley Prep High School following college. She began her career as a math teacher there and started her volleyball coaching career there as well. She coached the school's coed middle and high school volleyball teams.

In 2017, Lyndsey accepted her dream job at her alma mater, Coventry High School, where she continues to work today. In her seven years at Coventry, Lyndsey has taught Algebra and Geometry classes and has served as the school's student council advisor. She was recognized for her hard work and dedication to the school in 2023 when she was awarded the Spirit of Coventry High School award.

Despite the long commute, she accepted a position as the Lincoln High School girls and boy's assistant volleyball coach in 2018. Coaching alongside her friend and head coach Kyle Medeiros, the girls' team finished as Division 2 runners up and the boys finished the season as the runners up in Division 3. Starting in 2019, she took over as head coach of the girl's program.

After a disappointing 2021 season for the boys in Division 2, Lyndsey took over as head coach of the team along with assistant coaches Rob and Hanna. The coaching staff then led the 2022 Lions boys' team to a division 3 regular season championship. The Lions finished the regular season undefeated. The team was unfortunately upset in the semifinals that season. The heartbreaking ending for the team motivated them for the 2023 season. They were moved up to Division 2 and started the season with a 1-6 record through the first 7 games. The Lions turned things around and ended their season winning 12 of their last 13 games including upsetting the number 1 seed in the semifinals and the number two seed in the championship game, where they captured the school's first ever state championship in boys' volleyball. She hopes to continue sharing her love of the game with new athletes for many years to come!

MEDIA AWARD

IAN STEELE, SPORTS REPORTER

Ian started at ABC6 in August of 2017. A Massachusetts native, his first word was “touchdown” while watching a Patriots game with his dad on television, so it’s only fitting that he followed the career path of sports reporting, a passion he developed from a very young age. From Marshfield, MA, he played football for the Rams, and played in the state championship game in all four of his high school years, finally winning it his senior year at Gillette Stadium. Coming full circle, he’s now seen on the sidelines at Gillette on Sundays.

Ian graduated from Emerson College, in Boston where he could always be found in the student newsroom or television studios. After working with EIV News, the Emerson Channel, and WEBN (which allowed him to cover MLB Spring Training while still in school), he got the hands-on experience that still helps him in his work today.

After graduating in 2014, Ian packed all his things into a small four-door sedan and moved to Corpus Christi, TX, where he worked as a Sports Reporter and Anchor for KIII-TV3. Working there for three years helped him discover the true importance of high school sports to a community (high school football in Texas is as big of a deal as they say it is!), as well as covering minor and major league baseball, and Division I college athletics. Some highlights include covering the winningest coach in Texas high school football history, seeing the World Series champion Houston Astros be built through the minor league team in Corpus Christi, and covering the Texas A&M-Corpus Christi Islanders in back-to-back conference tournaments.

He returned to New England in 2017 and is now covering the teams and athletes he grew up watching, a dream come true. In his first few months, he covered Super Bowl LII and the Patriots’ dramatic season to reach it, the Red Sox ALDS, the Friars’ upsetting two top-ten teams in the nation, and a historic winning streak by the URI basketball team. There are many more amazing stories to come!

RIIAAA HALL OF FAME

EDWARD ‘TED’ QUIGLEY, LA SALLE

Ted Quigley served as the Athletic Administrator at La Salle Academy in Providence from 2000 until 2021. He was a member of the Executive Board of the Rhode Island Interscholastic Athletic Administrators Association for 18 years. During that time, he held multiple positions in the RIIAAA, including President from 2008-2010. In 2010, he became the first RIIAAA President to become a voting member of the Principals Committee on Athletics. As a member of the RIIAAA, Ted served in a variety of capacities. He was a Chairman of the Membership Committee, the Constitution and By-Laws Committee, the RIIAAA Annual Golf Tournament, and was a Rhode Island delegate many times to the National Interscholastic Athletic Administrators Association's Annual Conference. From 2011 until 2017, he was a member of the NIAAA's Credentials Committee. He also served on numerous sports committees for the Rhode Island Interscholastic League, including Ice Hockey, Lacrosse, Competition Cheerleading, Gymnastics, Golf, and Volleyball.

Ted helped La Salle return to the forefront of high school athletics, both on and off the field. La Salle Academy Principal Donald Kavanagh's vision was that every La Salle student-athlete should have an opportunity to perform to the best of their abilities in whatever sport they chose. From 2000 until 2021, La Salle won 140 RIIL State Championships. Both the boys' and girls' teams flourished under Ted's leadership. Ted took great pride in the evolution and success of La Salle's girls' programs. During his tenure, all the girls' teams became participants in Division I, and the school added Gymnastics, Girls Lacrosse, Girls Ice Hockey, and Field Hockey to their roster of sports. Ted was the driving force in La Salle hiring a full-time athletic trainer in 2005, something that continues to help the students at La Salle immeasurably today.

In 2003, Ted received the NIAAA State Award of Merit for Rhode Island. He was named the Athletic Director of the Year by the RIIAAA in 2008 and was named Athletic Director of the Year in 2021 by the RIIL.

Ted is a 1973 graduate of La Salle Academy. As a student at La Salle, he was a four-time state champion in the high jump and held the Rhode Island Indoor Track and Field state record. He was also the New England Outdoor Track and Field high jump champion.
